One Breath Away

Phedora

If you're burning long enough
You no longer feel the pain
So look at me while I'm embracing the flame

If your veins are pumping mud
Your heart will choke on this dirt
So look at me while I'm clawing for breath

Can't you see me?

If I could see right through you
You could see right through me
And lock me up inside this single stare
If I could see right through me
You could see right through you
And notice that we're just one breath away

If your soul's never been lost
How can it ever be found
So look at me while I'm wearing this cold night

If it's anger that you want
I would love to feed my wolves
So look at me while I'm getting too close

Can't you see me?

If I could see right through you
You could see right through me
And lock me up inside this single stare
If I could see right through me
You could see right through you
And notice that we're just one breath away

But in the end
My skin is too tight
So do I want you to see me like that
This air that we breathe
Became our curse

And just like this air we will disperse

If I could see right through you
You could see right through me
And lock me up inside this single stare
If I could see right through me
You could see right through you
And notice that we're just one breath away

If I could see right through you
You could see right through me
And lock me up inside this single stare
If I could see right through me
You could see right through you
And notice that we're just one breath away

Just one breath away
