

Suite: Clouds, Rain

David Gates

See the clouds adrift so far below
Everchanging as they come and go
Makes me wonder why I'm up so high
When really I am down so low
Of all the wonders I was one allowed
    I think that I would always choose a cloud
    Always brings my feelings right out loud
Whether I'm ashamed or proud
On this airplane comin' home to you
    Sometimes I think I've flown my whole life through My whole life...through
As I wing my way to you
See the clouds they're giving life below
    In colors that the canvas cannot show
    Keeping secrets no one else could know
For I'm the one who told them so
Now and then I get up close to you
    I'd like to stay but I'm just passing through
    So I'll have to say goodbye
    Until next time I fly
    Make my bed-light the light
    Comin' in on the midnight flight
    Touch the ground and soon you will be Safe inside reality
Change your mind-change your name
Still the music it sounds the same
Rainfall don't bother me at all
    You see the world reflected in the highway
    Come on rainbow-I can't let you go
Before I reach the end of you someway
So the next time raindrops fall
    If it makes you climb the walls just think of green
