

Maybe Won't Do

American Hi-Fi

Some call it love I don't know what you're thinkin' of Such a mystery to me
Somehow you always like to play undercover
It's your path to discover Roll me like we're tumbling dice
A wrecking ball rag doll ain't no breathing space
All the tapes have been erased
Prize fighter taking all the punches he can stand
And dropping on command All my dreams are trying to come true
But all I ever wanted was you What you don't understand
Forget the master plan
I'd give it all away to have you back again
I said it in my letter
So we could make it better
No need for you to read between the lines
Baby, can I be your baby
Definitely maybe won't do Ruby red play dead they don't make a sound
Plastic soldiers in a row
You're shouting calling all destroyers what to do
They're coming after you Surrender but the battle is won
She thought of cars where to drive trying to survive
How to make the great escape
Still watching life on other planets fall apart
She wears it on her heart All my dreams are trying to come true
But all I ever wanted was you What you don't understand
Forget the master plan
I'd give it all away to have you back again
I said it in my letter
So we could make it better
No need for you to read between the lines
Baby, can I be your baby
Definitely maybe won't do Someday you'll see, all our worlds collide
Way out in space What you don't understand
Forget the master plan
I'd give it all away to have you back again
I said it in my letter
So we could make it better
No need for you to read between the lines What you don't understand
Forget the master plan
I'd give it all away to have you back again
I said it in my letter
So we could make it better

No need for you to read between the lines

Baby, can I be your baby

Definitely maybe won't do
