The Black Widow

Alice Cooper

These words he speaks are true
We're all humanary stew
If we don't pledge allegiance to
The Black WidowThe horror that he brings
The horror of his sting
The unholiest of kings
The Black WidowOur minds will be his toy
And every girl and boy
Will learn to be employed by
The Black WidowLove me, yes, we love me
(Love him, yes, we love him)
Love me, yes, we love himHe sits upon his throne
And picks at all the bones
Of his husbands
And his wives he's devouredHe stares with a gleam
With a laugh so obscene
At the virgins and the children
He's defloweredLove me, yes, we love me
(Love him, yes, we love him)
Love me, yes, we love himOur thoughts are hot and crazed
Our brains are webbed in haze
Of mindless senseless daze of
The Black WidowThese words he speaks are true
We're all humanary stew
If we don't pledge allegiance to
The Black WidowThe Black Widow
