

Declaration of Freedom

Laibach

No need to be afraid
When the light start to fade
When minds disintegrate
No need to be afraid No need, no need to fear
When you begin to hear the bells
Tolling death knells in your ears
Calling you closer to me I'll set you free When the temple comes to collect
To harvest your life's account
And your goodness is no defense
Against your family's neglect Take my hands and follow me
I'll set you free Between heavenly salvation
And the Serpent's curse
Between eternal abomination
And the boredom of the virtuous You deeds count for nothing
On the day of reckoning
Your faith stands for nothing
God was only an enterprise Take my hands and follow me
I'll set you free Some people say
Death is not the end
Well let me tell you this
Death is your only friend Death is the final release
From the cycle of misery
From the threat of eternity
And perpetual vanity Take my hands and follow me
I'll set you free Death is the final release
From the cycle of misery
From the threat of eternity
From eternal slavern Take my hands and follow me
I'll set you free

Songwriters

Knez Dejan; Avsenik Slavko Jr; Frasn Milan; Novak Ivan; Bohn Chris Published by
SONGS OF WINDSWEPT PACIFIC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>