

The Everlasting

Taproot

It's 8am and her blood's still warm the radio choke's out my favorite song i hear sirens, they sing along...through the walls my pulse is pumping to the beat outside a violent screaming rise and shine waves of helplessness reach to the sky...with heartbreak eyes and as the walls around come crashing down i ask myself how am i still around it's easy
it's beautiful
it's simple
the everlasting Sunday glow
i won't let you in
don't push me away
I turn the music up a little more trying to drown out what's in store there's a battle raging right outside my door...it's all over head downstairs
empty table
the tv glares
a criminal has been declared..beware
and as the walls around come crashing down
i ask myself how am i still around
it's easy
it's beautiful
it's simple
the everlasting Sunday glow
i won't let you in
time and time and time again we seem to break before we bend
it's easy
it's beautiful
it's simple
the everlasting Sunday glow
i won't let you in
So don't push me away

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>