

Sleeping Bear

eskimeaux

o, sleeping bear each heavy breath in this room we share lingers forever because we are scared to open the window and let in the world for fear of what we are capable of "people get over stuff, that's what they do" you said that to me and maybe it's true but it's hard to see past a hungry feeling and i only live for what i can see o, busy bee

all the pollen you collect you carry each flower back in to your bed you open the window and fly into the world for you now know what you are capable of and i understand everything you say i just want to hear you explain it again and i'm not ready to make amends with the fucked up ways i love my friends so, sleeping bear each heavy toss in our bed my dreams become muddied and interrupted but it's a sweet reminder of our calm and cozy love
