Net War

A Telemetry

the generals gathered at terminals of doom
they need not see you the pathetic circus looms that's how they get it straight with so little effort thats how they crack our fate and bring us to our knees net war - in a cyber field they drop their bombs and destroy our shield

net war - in a cyber world they push the button and created a swirl

a preverbal wrench thrown into the works that scrambled virus brings our defenses down that's how they get to us without a need for nukes thats how they crush hi tech and snap our fragile loop digital death in a helpless stand corrupt and conceded computer apocalypse cripples our land stealing all - no feeling - just reeling and dealing it all
