

Happy The Hard Way

Every Avenue

tell me it's over tell me we finally made it through the comfort in silence turns to panic once again we're caught in a landslide we're dirty we're broken black and blue the feeling is lost in every signal that we send how could a love hurt this bad?
why do we follow through what keeps us hanging on?
we live like a storm and let it ride
for all of the times we felt alive but sometimes love just can't make you stay when you're happy the hard way they say what you can't say they say it's the end, say anything there something to finding all the places that you fear we're lost in a moment when it's only me and you there is no other place I'd rather be but here and those are the only times that make the world disappear how could a love hurt this bad?
why do we follow through what keeps us hanging on?
but sometimes love just can't make you stay when you're happy the hard way can't we see it's time to let go there's no saving this for tomorrow but it's just so hard to say goodbye...tell me it's over tell me we finally made it through how could a love hurt this bad?
why do we follow through what keeps us hanging on?
for all of the times we felt alive
but sometimes love just can't make you stay yeah, but sometimes love just can't make you stay when you're happy the hard way when you're happy the hard way
