Water Confines

Conception

I've always done what's right for me
I never asked for sympathy, compassion
I've always offered what it takes
To fit the frame my mirror makesI always thought, I had the key
To be the man, I wanna be
But now I know, I'll never find
The man who lived inside my mindFalling, I'm falling, I'm one step behind!My dream was my way so precious, so plain
A lifetime in vain
The tide is on time and water confines,
The dream of my lifeMaybe my versatility absorbed all common sense in me
I thought the word was mine to keep
By dint of my authority, I swear I'd perish at the stake
To pay the price for my mistakesBut now my time is running low
I've lived on a visions far too longFalling, I'm falling, I'm one step behindMy dream was my way so precious, so plain
A lifetime in vain
The tide is on time and water confines,
The dream of my lifeHope my misery doesn't show
Shady memories won't let go
Sometimes, when the crazy thunder
Roams my head, I can only pray
That somehow my dream's to blameMy dream was my way so precious, so plain
A lifetime in vain
The tide is on time and water confines,
The dream of my life
