

Religion

Virgin Millionaires

I'm passing out
On the floor again
While the radio is playing our song
But you're not here
And it feels wrong And it's been half an hour
Since the walls caved in
All I know is that
You're not coming back We can't go back
We can't go back And I have lost all my religion
Burned away
Thinking I almost cried today
But I've never been that strong till now All I needed was a reason
Or an excuse
This memory will die with you I cannot relate, no
Cuz I don't believe this is what you need
But what difference will that make?
And there is no doubt
I don't wanna be that someone you come running to
When nothing else works out I can't deny
I can't deny That I have lost all my religion
Burned away
Thinking I almost cried today
But I've never been that strong till now And all I needed was a reason
Or an excuse
This memory will die with you I wasn't supposed to be this
And you were supposed to be here
And all this time's been wasted
And I just don't understand But I have lost all my religion
Burned away
Thinking I almost cried today
But I've never been that strong till now And all I needed was a reason
Or an excuse
This memory will die with you
