

I'm Just A Woman

Ashton Shepherd

I guess I'm just a woman
And that's why I feel the way I do
Sometimes I wanna hold you tight
And other times I wanna yell at you
And sometimes I'm happy
Proud as I can be feeling glad
And sometimes I wanna cry
Because I feel so sad

And I guess I'm just a woman
And that's what women do
We carry the weight of the world on our shoulders
Making sure every little thing goes through
And I know you're doing all you can
And I know that after all
You were just a man
But you should understand
That I am just a woman
I guess I'm just a woman

And certain things stand out to me
See I worry when you treat me like a stranger
But you greet the stranger on the street
And there's bills on the table
And I am a banker you would think
When you're a mama and a wife
Let me tell you
There ain't many things you ain't

Yes I am just a woman
And that's what women do
We carry the weight of the world on our shoulders
Making sure every little thing goes through
And I know you're doing all you can
And I know that after all
You are just a man
But you should understand
That I am just a woman
I need you to understand

That I am a woman

---

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com

written by Shepherd, Ashton

Lyrics Â© EMI Music Publishing

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>