

Too Young To Fall In Love

Motley Crue

You say our love is like dynamite
Open your eyes, it's like fire and ice
Well you're killing me, your love's a guillotine
Why don't you just set me free? Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love Run for the hills we're both sinners and saints
Not a woman, but a whore, I can taste the hate
Well now I'm killing you, watch your face turning blue
Not yet a man just a punk in the street Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love You say our love is like dynamite
It's no surprise you got one-way eyes
Well you're killing me, your love's a guillotine
Why don't you just set me free? Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love
Too young to fall in love

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>