

This Day We Fight!

Megadeth

For this I was chosen because I fear nothing
With confidence I tread through the dead of night
Off to another war torn faraway battlefield
Wherein lies a demonic enemy horde On this day I decide to anoint my fist
Engaging them in the mode of power and war
Stopping at nothing that's short of fulfilling my destiny
Willing to die and I will, after you for what I believe A desperate avenger is striking fear in their hearts
Invading their dreams before the day even starts Wet with your blood I sharpen my sword
No turning the other cheek like a coward
Come tomorrow I may lay down and die
But not this day Sent on an unholy quest to reduce all those who resist to the size of their shriveled up souls and scatter them like grist I Vanquished the strangleholds that the netherworld sets for me
The last request of my life is to die killing my enemies Bathed in blood up to the horses bridle
It's death to retreat, there's no chance of survival Wet with your blood I sharpen my sword
No turning the other cheek like a coward
Come tomorrow I may lay down and die
But not this day This day we fight
This day we fight
This day we fight Strip the fallen heroes finish off the wounded
Collect the spoils of war and send them their dead This day we fight
This day we fight
Fight, fight, this day we fight
Fight, fight, fight, this day I fight
