

1974

Abraham Cloud

n 1974, the world was destroyed in a nuclear war and no one can remember except for me ?Cause I was up on a hill as the sky grew white and still adn I felt completely at peace while i was melting

I imagine you, and you iimagine me together we?re making love imaginarily

It shoook me straight to the bone To be instantlly so alone But one by one the trees all re-appeared I guess every tree lives on in memory] and memories never die , they just fet better

I imagine you, and you iimagine me
together we?re making love imaginarily I fall in love with you you hate me like you do But Id imagine thats what you?re supposed to do don?t question what we?re feeling one doubt could send us reeling back into the nothingness of 74

In 1975 after a year of wondering if Im alive I finally realize just what my life is anything you dream is alive as you and me and anything you want you already have the children know its true they believe in me and you listen to them laugh their day away back down to the the desert's killing floor back in a box looking for something more

I imagine you, stand ing in the nude out in the forest of a million dreams i fall in love with you,. then we're touching too isn't that what we're supposed to do
