Wasteland

Trapt

You don't ever ask me why you don't read the signs
You give me way to many reasons for me to want to get high
Standing tall between my four walls and I'm about to fall
So look into my eyes and I say it all
I am lost, I am lost so crucify me on your cross
What's the cost, what's the cost to erase what I've been taught?
Get off my back, don't attack so what if I fell off the tracks?
Your master plan don't understand I'd rather live in my own wasteland
I'm already gone, I'm already gone, my own wasteland
I don't belong, I don't belong, my own wasteland
You scream at me until I shut down, I don't hear a sound
I can only take so many cheap shots down on the ground
I gotta go my own way this time leave you behind
I've said it all but not enough for your simple mind
I am lost, I am lost so crucify me on your cross
What's the cost, what's the cost to erase what I've been taught?
Get off my back, don't attack so what if I fell off the tracks?
Your master plan don't understand, I'd rather live in my own wasteland
I'm already gone, I'm already gone, my own wasteland
I don't belong, I don't belong, my own wasteland
You tell me what you want from me
But you never ask me what I need
Just let me go, just set me free
And turn these nightmares into dreams
I am lost, I am lost so crucify me on your cross
What's the cost, what's the cost to erase what I've been taught?
Get off my back, don't attack so what if I fell off the tracks?
Your master plan don't understand, I'd rather live in my own wasteland
And I won't waste another day
It doesn't matter what we say
You'll never change your wicked ways
I'd rather stay in my own wasteland
I'm already gone, I'm already gone, my own wasteland
I don't belong, I don't belong, my own wasteland
I'm already gone, I'm already gone, my own wasteland
I don't belong, I don't belong, my own wasteland
