

My Father's Son

The Amity Affliction

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

I am my father's son,
I am my fathers mistakes.
I'm easily undone and I'm no stranger to rage,
I am no stranger to rage
I am no stranger to rage I built the bars out of bottles,
Drowned myself just to escape.
I am my father's son,
I am my father's mistakes.
And I'm ashamed of myself,
I just want out of this place,
This fucking hell I've created,
I can't seem to escape. I had to learn for myself,
The fastest way to my death,
So I could follow his footsteps to my hospital bed. All my life I have been trying to understand myself,
It seems like my own reflection is just somebody else.
It's taken years to know my father courses through my veins,
And though I never knew him it turns out we're the same. I am no stranger to rage. I am my father's son,
Won't make my fathers mistakes.
I've crept through shadows and alleys,
Found my home on the streets. I've felt the cold glare of strangers,
As they passed over me.
I never figured I'd turn out to be such a disgrace,
But I'm my fathers son,
The sum of all his mistakes. I had to learn for myself,
The fastest way to my death,
So I could follow his footsteps to my hospital bed. All my life I have been trying to understand myself,
It seems like my own reflection is just somebody else.
It's taken years to know my father courses through my veins,
And though I never knew him it turns out we're the same. I am no stranger to rage.
(And though I never knew him it turns out we're the same)
(And though I never knew him it turns out we're the same) I am my father's son
I am my father's son

I am my father's son
Won't make my fathers mistakes.I am my father's son
I am my father's son
I am my father's son
I am my father's son
