

Her Father's Song

FM Static

I saw the rain fall down today watched lightning crash through skies of grey why cant life just be polite and wait wait

i saw the light outside your house red lights cut like nothing else the scene of a silent cry for help help

how are we supposed to do this if everyone we love still lets us down if youre there can you hear me now?

no matter how hard i try cant get you out of my mind wish i could be there to help you say goodbye dont hold it inside

oh oh oh

i saw the sky go black today i felt your tears and ached your pain its hard to tell how much this changed how you see everything and all i can do is pray that you dont take the blame

Cause its not your fault that it happened this way happened this way

cant get u out of my mind wish i could be there to help u say goodbye
