Homeward

Combichrist

Walking on empty streets
Through the mist under streets lights flickering
There is no shadow, it's just the hollow
Just an empty body walkingYou know I left my heart with you
So heartless I'm homeward bound now
If there ever was a soul,
It left the vessel a long time agoRiots breaking out in the streets
I walk unseen among them
I am screaming your name
But no one is listening, no one is noticing meA raven watching from above
It follows my every move
It knows my fear
It knows my fear
The raven flies past me
It's leading the way
In the darkness I'm drifting
There's no reason to stayEverything was broken
The dark would always win
I am homeward bound
This is where death beginsWhat will you do when it comes for you
Where is my profit in loving you (in loving you)
Eye for an eye, heart for a heart
I'll give it back some dayDon't lay down, no time for rest
A portal of black mass opens
It pulls me in, it pulls me in
I'm trying to resist
I know it's there and it's shining through
I can't connect, won't allow me to exist
Falling apart, lies kill lies
To my knees in broken glassNow my shadow is catching up
It wraps itself around my body
It takes me there
It takes me thereThe raven flies past me
It's leading the way
In the darkness I'm drifting
There's no reason to stayEverything was broken
The dark would always win
I am homeward bound
This is where death beginsThis is where death beginsThe raven flies past me

It's leading the way
In the darkness I'm drifting
There's no reason to stayEverything was broken
The dark would always win
I am homeward bound
This is where, this is whereThe raven flies past me
It's leading the way
In the darkness I'm drifting
There's no reason to stayEverything was broken
The dark would always win
I am homeward bound
This is where death begins
