

All It Takes to Fly

Nicole-Marie

When darkness enters in/ you feel you've reached your limit/ and winter's silent depths come to visit/ the branches of dead trees are bony fingers pointing at every last beauty leaving your story

PRECHORUS: If you can't find your footing/ some solid ground to stand on/ call on your angels waiting with your wings

CHORUS: And fly, baby, just try/ the sky is waiting tonight/ a thousand tries is all it takes to fly

The light will lead the way as all illusions fade/ you hear them call your name/ the one that heaven gave/ they gather 'round you now and welcome you abound and all your fears fall down as love surrounds

They help you find your footing/ some solid ground to stand on/ they are your angels waiting with your wings
