

Condemned

In Flames

I'm so restless
These walls drain my thoughts
Rooms with no sun
I can't find my way outIt used to be my home
These days far from my comfort zone
Alive but without control
Fear is taking holdI should cross the line
Confront lives too blindHear a distant cry
Would you tell me how
Break the cycle that I'm in
And discover the livingI don't recognize my soul
Condemned to live in this black hole
Deep within time
Then crave warning signsHear a distant cry
Would you tell me how
Break the cycle that I'm in
And discover the livingI should cross the line
Confront lives too blindHear a distant cry
Would you tell me how
Break the cycle that I'm inThere's a hill to climb
Would you dream if I
Design the future
And lock the end of time
