

Ring The Bells (with Salman Ahmad)

Melissa Etheridge

As God is God, as light is light
Whose law is wrong? Whose might is right?
Here we are on the edge
The edge of change I believe in peace, my only wish
I believe that we can co-exist
Let's go further now
Than we've ever gone before And ring the bells, ring the bells of change
Ring the bells every boy and every girl
Ring the bells, ring the bells of peace
All over the world We've all been called to wake from sleep
To feel our power to create the dream
To step out from the dark
Past our fathers' fear Ring the bells, ring the bells of change
Ring the bells every boy and every girl
Ring the bells, ring the bells of peace
All over the world Here we stand in unity
Making one choice to be free
Every truth blends into one
As we believe it shall be done Here we stand as soldiers now
Turning our swords into plows
There is not a nobler clime
Achieving peace in our own time I know peace begins with me
With all I feel and with all I see
And I know it's no easy task
Removing our own fearful mask But I have seen us rise and fall
Stand on the moon, tear down the wall
And I know we can do it all
And do it well, so ring the bells Ring the bells, ring the bells of change
Ring the bells every boy and every girl
Ring the bells, ring the bells of peace
All over the world, all over the world Ring the bells, ring the bells of change
Ring the bells every boy and every girl
Ring the bells, ring the bells of peace
All over the world, all over the world Ring the bells, ring the bells of peace
Ring the bells, ring the bells
Ring the bells, ring the bells Joy to the world
Hallelujah
