

Endless Summer

Zwan

there used to be a time that i believed the soft pouring rain was just the pouring rain, it wasn't me but every new light that wasn't shiny and bright we'll suspend the storms and the clouds in sight of an endless summer an endless summer
an endless summer to be home let me go, wasting time let me go waste my time once there was a chance that i believed you a kiss was just a kiss no matter how i missed you shine a light on me say a prayer for the relief from an endless summer
an endless summer
an endless summer to be home did we go on too long did we listen too close to a youth built strong with things children shouldn't know and the fall out from your third degrees of broken chairs and of pedigrees where the sons kill sons, and the daughters stay wise 'cause when we rule, everybody dies in an endless summer
let me go waste my time let me go, wasting time let me go waste my time now you can disagree with how i choose to live but freedom isn't free unless you learn how to give to the summer, summer, summer, yeah summer, summer, summer, yeah
