Destined

Karliene

â€œThe stars forever unchanging,
they guide us on paths unseen;
And you were written in my story,
destined to collide with me.

They say you stole me in moonlight;
but love, I was already yours,
For we were written in the starlight,
as the wolf belongs to the moon.

Like the rain meets the river,
like the trees meet the sky,
We were born to be together; you and I.

Like the fish need the water,
like the birds need the sky;
We were made to need each other, you and I.

The stars ever unchanging,
they send your love to me;
But cruel how late in my story,
you came to collide with me.

Like the rain loves the thunder,
like the waves kiss the sky;
We were born to love each other, you and I.

Like the fire consumes the timber,
like the flames the sky;
We were made to be together, you and I.

The stars forever unchanging,
they guide us on paths unseen;
And you were written in my story,
destined to collide with me...
Destined to collide with me.â€•
