An Arrow From The Sun

Therion

Sunshine hides behind a cloud
(Eiwar)
There's no light for us to see
(Eiwar)
But a ray is breaking through
(Eiwar)
The ignorance of a human mind
(Eiwar)On Olympia the sun is born
Radiating from God Apollo
From the utmost north arrived a man
And he took a spark, a shaft of lightArrows from the sun, they penetrate the human mind
Sophia is born when we catch one of these
Arrow from the sun, they burn the soul and make us see
Him who took the spark, Abaris EiwarEiwar, Eiwar, take an arrow from the sun
Abaris, pilgrim from the regions of darknessWhen you catch the sun, you'll ride a beam
All across the world, in every place
Like Abaris did, he took a spark
As a riding broom, a magic worldArrows from the sun will penetrate the human mind
Sophia is born when we catch one of these
Arrows from the sun, they burn the soul and make us see
Deep inside the maze the psyche, the soulAn arrow from the sun is like a scepter in your hand
A key to time and space, to journeys within
Arrows form the sun will open up your beating heart
Sophia will shine when they hit your soulEiwar, Eiwar, take an arrow from the sun
Abaris, pilgrim from the regions of darkness
Eiwar, Eiwar, bend the bow now and shoot now
Abaris, bowman, shoot an arrow from the sun
