

Return to Me

October Project

You rise like a wave in the ocean
And you fall gently back to the sea
Now I want to know how to hold you
Return to me, return to me You shine like the moon over water
And you darken the sky when you leave
Now I want to know how to keep you
Return to me, return to me, turn to me, return to me Everything I tell you has been spoken
And everything I say was said before
But everything I feel is for the first time
And everything I feel, I feel for you I am here calling the wind
I am here calling your name
I am here calling you back
Return to me, return to me I know what it means to be lonely
And I know what it means to be free
Now I want to know how to love you
Return to me, return to me I am here calling the wind
I am here calling your name
I am here calling you back
Return to me, return to me I'm here return to me
