

You've Got Something

The Jungle Giants

I'll be taking the hearts that you're breaking and putting them in a jar
So when you're sixty or old and you're dizzy
They'll tell you who you are 'Cause you've got something that everybody wants,
I having trouble with my do's and my dont's
All my secrets why does everybody know, know, know
Well you've got something, you've got something I'll be taking the hearts that you're breaking and putting them in a jar,
So when you're sixty or old and you're dizzy,
They'll tell you who you are 'Cause you've got something that everybody wants,
I having trouble with my do's and my dont's,
All my secrets why does everybody know, know, know
Well you've got something, you've got something I'll be taking the hearts that you're breaking and putting them
in a jar
So when you're sixty or old and you're dizzy They'll tell you who you are You've got something (x8) Well you've got something, you've got something you've got something, you've got something yeah, yeah
You've got something, you've got something, something you've got something, you've got something
Yeah, yeah

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>