

Coal Makes Diamonds

Blue October

If I'm a desert my face is the wind
I know where I'm going and I know where I've been You're the horizon and the wide open space
And I surround you caressing your face There's not a limit to the things that I'd do
I'd give you stars but the stars wouldn't do
You're like the lava burning buried below
An eruption but too early to show We are islands I hear our sirens
And so we wait (wait, down, put it right in front of me)
We wait (wait, down, put it right in front of me) 'Cause when pressure heightens
Our coal makes diamonds
And so we wait (wait, down, in front of me)
We wait (wait, down, wait, down) Oh oh oh
Oh oh oh
Oh oh oh
Oh oh oh With the flood comes shifting the soil
Our blood runs thicker than oil
It's like erosion cutting straight to the core
No human nature ever felt this before And we become an unbreakable vow
I wanna hold you up, higher than most
Because it feels like flying out We are islands I hear our sirens
And so we wait (wait, down, put it right in front of me)
We wait (wait, down, put it right in front of me) 'Cause when the pressure heightens
Our coal makes diamonds
And so we wait (wait, down, in front of me)
We wait (wait, down, wait, down) Oh oh oh
Oh oh oh
Oh oh oh
Oh oh oh (Wait, down) We are islands I hear our sirens
And so we wait (wait, down, put it right in front of me)
We wait (wait, down, put it right in front of me) 'Cause when pressure heightens
Our coal makes diamonds
And so we wait (wait, down, in front of me)
We wait (wait, down, wait, down) Wait, down, in front of me
Wait, down, in front of me
Wait, down, in front of me
Wait, down
Wait, down
