Change You

Saving Jane

I guess I've just been lucky all this time
Somehow all my demons came out fine
Took for granted everything he gave Forgetting he could take it all awayDon't leave me hanging on the edge of what is real
I'm losing sight of all that I'm supposed to feel
Paint it gray, make the monster go away
I'm out of things to say and I can't change you anywayI wish that I could give you everything
Sunlight on the shadows that you bring
No one else can make you see the light
I don't know how to make you feel all rightDon't leave me hanging on the edge of what is real
I'm losing sight of all that I'm supposed to feel
Paint it gray, make the monster go away
I'm out of things to say and I can't change you anywayPaint it gray, make the monster go away
I'm out of things to say and I can't change you anywayAnd I don't know why
And I don't know why
I didn't ask you for the sky
And I don't know why
