Touch

Natasha Bedingfield

I was tryin' to cross the street
When I tripped and spilled my coffee
On a man who yelled at me
And then he walked off in a hurry...

Now he's gonna be late for work
So he called his secretary
Said to cancel his appointment
With the guy in the lobby...

Who's been waiting for a while
And talking on the phone
Got invited to a party
And though he couldn't go...

But he's here right now
Standing in my house
And someone turns the music loud...

So we dance
And we laugh
And we touch (touch touch...)

Yeah we dance
And we laugh
And we touch (touch touch...)

Gonna party all night till the sun comes up
Cuz it feels like the world
Dissapears around us...

When we dance
When we laugh
When we touch...

I was planning out my party
Running errands 'round the city
Grocery bags full of alcohol
And chocolate chip cookies...

Saw a dress that was amazing
In the window of a boutique
So I went across the street
Then my heel broke and it threw me...

I tried to catch my balance
But I was supposed to fall
It seems that spilling coffee
Was no accident at all...

Cuz you're here right now
Sitting on my couch
Funny how it all works out...

When we dance
And we laugh
And we touch (touch touch...)

Yeah we dance
And we laugh

Gonna party all night till the sun comes up
Cuz it feels like the world
Dissapears around us...

When we dance
When we laugh
When we touch...

Every choice we make
And every road we take
Every interaction
Starts a chain reaction
We're both affected when we least expect it
And then when we touched
Then it all connected...

Every choice we make
And every road we take
Every interaction
Starts a chain reaction
We're both affected when we least expect it
And then when we...

When we dance

And we laugh
And we touch (touch touch...)

When we dance
And we laugh
And we touch (touch touch...)

Gonna party all night till the sun comes up
Cuz it feels like the world
Dissapears around us...

When we dance
When we laugh
When we touch...

Ooo oo oo ooo
We touch...
