Heading For Nowhere

Jets Overhead

I'm looking for something that I didn't notice was gone
Weeks, maybe months just went by without anything wrong
Now I'm aware I can't stop the repeating alarm
Here in this place I get peace, I get war, I get on

Standing at the station
Falling out of line
Missing my connection
Asking for the time

End at the beginning
Back onto the street
Always chasing something
Even in our sleep

(We got the time)
Heading for nowhere

I'm ready for something I finally noticed was gone
Head to the place where I go when I know what went wrong
Moments repeat, colors change to the beat of a song
Counting the days I get by and the days I get on

End at the beginning
Back onto the street
Always chasing something
Even in our sleep

(We got the time)
Heading for nowhere

Standing at the station
Looking at the map
Stopping for a moment
Just before the crash
