Always One Step Ahead

Gold Motel

It's been my lucky season
trying to find the way to get to you.
For every step I take you take in two.

Midnight trees all Helter Skelter.
All the wood houses in a row.
A fire out of your voice as stones throw.

Think I'm getting closer, but I've been misled.
I know that you are always one step ahead.
Adding up the miles to my discontent.
I know that you always one step ahead.

And I'm trying to find the way to get to you.

I've been living like a stand-in.
Hoping one day you wake me up.
I've memorized the lines, but it's not enough.

Think I'm getting closer, but I've been misled.
I know that you are always one step ahead.
Adding up the miles to my discontent.
I know that you always one step ahead.

And I'm trying to find the way to get to you.
Trying to find the way to get to you.

Think I'm getting closer, but I've been misled.
I know that you are always one step ahead.
Adding up the miles to my discontent.
I know that you always one step ahead.

Think I'm getting closer.
Think I'm getting closer.
You are always one step ahead.

And I'm trying to find the way to get to you.
If it's the last thing I do.
