Rain

Lauren Christy

Rain coming down on my windowpane, and I don't mind
Rain coming down on my windowpane, and I don't mind
And a million umbrellas are reaching for the sky
Nothing's gonna get me down, nothing's gonna get me downRain coming down on my windowpane, and I don't mind
And he doesn't even recall my name, but I don't mind
When the midnight cinderellas are wishing they were dry, so I am
Nothing's gonna get me down, nothing's gonna get me downWell I'm gonna waltz to the river
Watch the rain coming down, oh no
Well I'm gonna waltz to the river
Watch the rain coming down
And he'll never now I'm here
On this earth, at this place, at this timeRain coming down on my windowpane, and I don't mind
And I know that I'll never feel the same, but I don't mind
And the weatherman has told me it'll rain until July (tell me why)
Nothing's gonna get me down, nothing's gonna get me downWell I'm gonna waltz to the river
Watch the rain coming down, oh no
Well I'm gonna waltz to the river
Watch the rain coming down
And he'll never now I'm here
On this earth, at this place, at this timeOh oh I've been running in the rain
I've been running in the rain
I soaked you up, you sqeezed me dry, ah, oh
Drowning in your lies, running, running in the rainWell I'm gonna waltz to the river
Watch the rain coming down, oh no
Well I'm gonna waltz to the river
Watch the rain coming down
And he'll never now I'm here
On this earth, at this place, at this timeWell I'm gonna waltz to the river
Watch the rain coming down, oh no
Well I'm gonna waltz to the river
Watch the rain coming down
And he'll never now I'm here
On this earth, at this place, at this time
