Wildflower

Deana Carter

I wanna run against the wind
I wanna pull the stars down from the sky
And put 'em back again
Well, I wanna hold the world in my hands
Well, I wanna see forever from where I stand
I'm a wildflower with my roots down an old dirt road
A wildflower and I need a little rain to grow
A little sun to help my colors show
I'm a wildflower
I wanna jump every fence
I want a taste of freedom and hold on to my innocence
Well, I wanna fly above the trees
And ride this feeling all the way to the sea
I'm a wildflower with my roots down an old dirt road
A wildflower and I need a little rain to grow
A little sun to help my colors show
I'm a wildflower
I'm a wildflower with my roots down an old dirt road
A wildflower and I need a little rain to grow
A little sun to help my colors show
A little luck 'cause don't you know I'm a wildflower
