Home Is In Your Eyes

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

(verse 1)
My heart beats a little bit slower
These nights are a little bit colder
Now that you're gone
My skies seem a little bit darker
Sweet dreams come a little bit harder.....
I hate when you're gone.Everyday time is passing growing tired of all this traffic
Take me away to where you are..(chorus)
I wanna be holding your hand in the sand by
the tire swings
Where we used to be
baby you and meI'd travel a thousand miles
Just so I can see you smile
Feels so far away when you cry
Cause home is in your eyes(verse 2)
Your heart beats a little bit faster
There's tears where there used to be laughter...
Now that I'm gone....You talk just a little bit softer Things take just a little bit longer..
You hate that I'm gone..Everyday time is passing growing tired of all this travelling
Take me away to where you are..(chorus)
I wanna be holding your hand in the sand by
the tire swings
Where we used to be
baby you and meI'd travel a thousand miles
Just so I can see you smile
Feels so far away when you cry
Cause home is in your eyes(bridge)
If I could write another ending
This wouldn't even be our song

I'd find a way where we would never ever be apart
Right from the start(chorus x2)
I wanna be holding your hand in the sand by the tire swing
Where we used to be
baby you and meI'd travel a thousand miles
Just so I can see you smile
Feels so far away when you cry
Cause home is in your eyes
