Embers

Young Galaxy

oh lord there's a ghost train running through my head, everynight i hear it serenade the sunset, oh lord there's a deep blue ocean in my dreams, calling to me from behind the veil of sleep.

i'm afraid i've lost my way, afraid i've lost may way,
i set out like a scout,
but i've run out.

oh lord there's a beach tree where i find my shade, i remember breaking down beneath its sway, oh lord there's a cascade mountain in my dreams, calling to me behind the fog of sleep.

and it's always out of reach, it's always out of reach,
i set out like a scout,
but i've run out.

father mother i burn so true, my blaze is brighter when near to you, i smoke and spark without your fuel,
an ember from the heart of you.

sisters brothers i burn for you, i light the night searching for you, i signal the sky for you,
an ember from the heart of you.

an ember from the heart of you,
an ember from the heart of you.

Lyrics submitted by Jessica.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/