I Felt Free

Circa Survive

Nothing new to say Nothing to report 'cause the future happened yesterday
If I could tell the truth
I could make you stay but forever seems so far away I fell apart in your arms
for the last time
And I felt free to do what I want because of the things you told me,
because of the things you told me, you told me
I felt free
You could be the end of me Too many shades of gray
It's just another pointless game that we play

I couldn't tell the truth I'll never make you stay because tomorrow always happens yesterday
I fell apart in your arms
for the last time
And I felt free to do what I want
because of the things you told me
because of the things you told me, you told me
I felt free
I felt free
I will learn to live again for now I'm breaking all the things I couldn't mend without escaping I will learn to love again
I will learn to love
I will learn

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/