Derik Nelson

She said sit down we need to talk there's something I've been keeping from you
While you checked in to your flight on time I checked into a room with this friend of mine

It was just as I suspected and I fumbled with my keys
As her makeup started running she said say something baby please

I can't even think straight I don't know what to say
I don't want you to leave me but I don't want you to stay
One step from disaster and another from a fight
Should I tell her I'm thinking I'd be better off in someone else's arms tonight

So I went ahead and I turned my back and I fled from the girl and the night's so black
And I held my breath and put the car in drive
Turn off my phone coz I know she'll call as I decide if I'm a hero or a coward or nothing at all Emotionless and numb from here on I find
And throw the rear view mirror the city slides from sight
They say to drink it off your mind but I ain't much for drinking tonight

I can't even think straight I don't know what to say
I don't want you to leave me but I don't want you to stay
One step from disaster and another from a fight
Should I tell her I'm thinking I'd be better off in someone else's arms tonight hmmmm...

This is just a story set to music to disguise
But there's a fine between bending truth and bending lies
But what the hell's the different there's still too many instances to prove it's not ridiculous to see what we've come to be

So pack up all your secret lies your quick with sh*t and your gorgeous eyes
This ain't the first time it won't be the last
Girl cross me off your list of fools who fell for the girl who had no rules I gotta get out of here and fast
It's not my first decision the confessions over due but still I with I wasn't practicing on you
You make me say goodbye to much to know that I'm still waiting in the rain and in my hand a single rose

One step from disaster and another from a fight
Should I tell her I'm thinking I'd be better off in someone else's arms tonight
Tonight yeah oh oh ohh
