

One Bad Eye

White Sea

When you left yourself alone
Is your story left untold?
But I'm here now
I'm listening Do you have a master plan?
Did it fail to manifest
Just a dreamer left out in the dust
Just a forgotten man Hold my hand and tell me all your stories
All your quiet glories from your past
So someone remembers it
If you knew the pain that we share
Knowing your secret prayers went undeclared
I will remember them
Seasons from a different time
Waiting tables getting high
Nashville bound with starry eyes
I'm listening Dodged a war with one bad eye
Tried to leave it all behind
Found a wife and had a child
I'm witnessing Hold my hand and tell me all your stories
All the quiet glories of your past
So someone remembered it
If you knew the pain that we share
Knowing your secret prayers went undeclared Hold my hand and tell me all your stories
All the quiet glories of your past
So someone remembered it
If you knew the pain that we share
Knowing your secret prayers went undeclared
I will remember them
I will remember them
I will remember them
I will remember them
