

Not So Sentimental Now

Justin Currie

Pick up your shit and my shit too
Don't need a TV to stare at
Or those pretty clothes to glare at
That you never put on anyhow
Cause baby I'm not so sentimental now

Out with the old, out with the new
If there's a trinket worth keeping
You better get it while I'm sleeping soon
Before the war breaks out
Cause baby I'm not so sentimental now

Don't think because I loved so hard
I can't be hard when the hating starts
So take your wounded out
Cause I'm not so sentimental now

Take everything, take what you see
The vitamins, the drawing pins
The covers you've been lying in to me
Yet take a bow
Cause baby I'm not so sentimental now
