Princess

Lee DeWyze

Do you remember sleeping on the floor?

Talking about how things were beforeAnd who will save you now?

And who can show you how to love again?The poison of your kiss

The waterfall of words from your lipsAnd who will save you now?

And who can show you how to love again?I tried to forget you

And not let you down

But the hardwood on the floor has melted

And you're wearing your crownAnd who can save you now?

And who can show you how to love again?
