The Future of War

Atari Teenage Riot

Is this the future? Is this the future?
Is this the future of war? Is this the future of war?
Is this the future of war? The future of war
The future of war, the future of warCome on down to the end of the future
We not gonna make it another day
Fighting the fight we have to fight
You not gonna make me run awayA white moon is shining down on me
Where do we belong? Where do we belong?
Punk for money, piss for gold
Nothing ain't what it used to beI don't fear the live I wanna live, I don't fear the nothing I have to see
The future of war, the future of war, the future of war
The future of war, the future of war, the future of warWe never talked a revolution, we never played the cliche
That was you having old images in your head
We do not need to provoke anyone, it's just a waste of timeTwo minutes before action, check my card, it's okay
Check my soul and throw it away, crack my life and you gonna die
I saw his eyes, a pose like this at midnight
It's obvious that capitalism has failedThis is the future, the future of war, the future of war
The future of war, it's like a heatwave burning through my soul
The future of war, the future of war, the future of war
The future of war, war, war, war, war, war, war, war, the future is war

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/