

The Times We've Shared (Forever Family)

Glasseater

For what it's worth
I'll sacrifice it all to know you're still here
So what if the mark on your skin has faded away
Your heart, your personality, and most importantly...(Your friendship is what's been sincere)Do you remember the times we've shared
Can you sit back and smile knowing the thing's we've experienced People we've met, friends we've made, family we've becomeEveryone is changing, there's very few that are real
Just because you've lost the edge doesn't mean you've become a shadowThere's so much more to a family...
(than a label we) individually choose to live by
And hopefully you know that i wont turn my back on you..not ever, not this timeEveryone is changing, there's very few that are real
Just because you've lost the edge doesn't mean you've become a shadowThere's so much more to a family...
(than a label we)individually choose to live by
And hopefully you know that i wont turn my back on you..not ever, not this timeWe said it in the beggining, and i'll say it again
I'll make sure it stays in your head...(This family is forever) Forever!Do you remember the times we've shared
Can you sit back and smile knowing the thing's we've experienced
People we've met, friends we've made, family we've becomeJust remember the times we've shared

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>