I Could

Juels

I could pretend to love you
And be someone else for a while
Make you believe your the one that I want
Give you my heart in disguiseI could be all you've wanted
Make all your dreams come true, yeah
Surrender my love at the feet of your will
And live out your fantasy for youAnd you would be happy
And I'd make you smile
And I'd go on living a lieDo you really want to give your life to Thinking you've found true love, when it hasn't found you?
Do you really want to give your life to
Thinking you've found true love, when it hasn't found you?I could make you a promise
And be all you want me to be
Give you my hand as we walk down the aisle
So you could live happilyAnd you would be happy
And I'd make you smile
And I'd go on living a lieDo you really want to give your life to
Thinking you've found true love, when it hasn't found you?
Do you really want to give your life to
Thinking you've found true love, when it hasn't found you?'Cause this is not what I had planned
I hoped one day that you will understand
If I could take this heart I broke
And say I love you honey if I couldDo you really want to give your life to Thinking you've found true love, when it hasn't found you?I could be the one to hold you
I could be the one you need
But I could never be the one
To give you everythingI could be the one to hold you
And I could be the one you need
But I could never be the one
To give you everythingDo you really want to give your life to Thinking you've found true love? Yeah
Do you really want to give your life to Thinking you've found true love, when it hasn't found you?Do you really want to give your life to
Thinking you've found true love, when it hasn't found you?
When it hasn't found you?

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/