

President

Burning Jet Black

I once told you
Pick me if you dare
So you resurrected things
That never quite fared
In our world
Smothered them in callous love
You prospected winners
Until something went wrong
The thieves and liars
They learned to write songs
You crossed me as their savior
Hung me up to wither and starve
I won't be your president
So you should take me out
I won't be your president
So you should shoot me down
'Cause we all want love
Just like you do
There's no more sun
Shining over my team
I finally found someone
To trample all my dreams
I won't be your president
So you should take me out
I won't be your president
So you should shoot me down
I won't be your president
So you should take me out
I won't be your perfect son
So you should shoot me down
'Cause we all want love
Just like you do
Come over
Throw your stones
Build your cities as I become unknown
Come over
Throw your stones
Build your empire as I become unknown
