Today

Ezra Henderson

Today didn't go at all like I planned
I met you downtown, we walked through the streets hand in hand
I wrapped you in my sweatshirt, zipped you up from the cold
You started to cry and say things I didn't wanna know

How can you leave me like this? And why won't you stay?
My body aches as your tail lights are fading away
I still remember the way your lips taste in the rain
And my head keeps repeating the last words that I heard you say,
"I fell out of love today."

Today didn't go like I wanted it to Stumble back to my car, hear the radio sing "Someone Like You"
I stare in my mirror, try to believe that we're through
I can't pull away from the last place I'll ever kiss you

How can you leave me like this? And why won't you stay?
My body aches as your tail lights are fading away
I still remember the way your lips taste in the rain
And my head keeps repeating the last words that I heard you say,
"I fell out of love

Today is the day I'm letting you go
And I'll never feel the same way, just so you know
Today is the day I'm setting you free
But every day till forever, I hope that you'll come back to me

How can you leave me like this? And why won't you stay?
My body aches as your tail lights are fading away
I still remember the way your lips taste in the rain
And my head keeps repeating the last words that I heard you say,
"I fell out of love today."

Today didn't go at all like I planned.

Lyrics Submitted by Megan

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/