My Last Amen

Downhere

From the corner of my eye
There's a tear I'm trying to cry
But the feeling can't be found

Like a no thrills in a song
When I play it again it's gone
Cuz it was never in the sound

And it keeps me wanting
That mysterious thing
Like a night is waiting
For a dawn

Every prayer I say (a little closer)
To my resting place (a little closer)
Where my final breath
Is the beginning
To never needing and I will find my last amen, my last amen

I could swear I have two hearts
One to stay and one to depart
This sad, tragic kingdom

And it burns me down to the core
Because I know there's so much more
Its just a pale reflection

And it keeps me wanting
That mysterious thing
Like an outcast waiting to belong

(Chorus)

And while the thrills are fading
The joy is in the waiting
Somwhere in the grand design
It's good be unsatisfied
It keeps faith and hope
A little more alive

Where my final breath
Is the beginning
To never needing, and I will find my last amen

My last amen
Amen
My last amen
Amen
