

Crippled & Broken

Kataklysm

I hear a million voices
They're screaming through my head
Messages of death that I could understand
They reek intimidation, they reek retribution
The time has come for you to defy your enemyI saw you coming from miles away
One by one, I saw you fade away
There's no chance in one man's fear
The damage's done, your strength's undoneCrippled and broken
There's no one left to die
Crippled and brokenWorthless to test this power
And feel the wrath of fire
Senseless these acts of vengeance
Will tear into your soulRage of inner strength
To eat you from the inside
And cripple you into infinityYou reap what you sowed, right
You reap what you sowed for nothing
You reap what you sowed for war
You reap what you sowedI hear a million voices
They're screaming through my head
Messages of death that I could understand
They reek intimidation, they reek retribution
The time has come for you to defy your enemyI saw you coming from miles away
One by one I saw you fade away
There's no chance in one man's fear
The damage's done, your strength's undoneCrippled and broken
Crippled and brokenCrippled and broken
Crippled and broken
Crippled and broken
Crippled and broken
