

Gertrude's Garden Hospital

Brian Protheroe

In Gertrude's Garden Hospital
The Matron held the floor
She told the doctors many things She'd never told before

She told them what King George had said concerning etiquette and how he'd sneeze and shake the trees to amuse the marmoset

Put me in your shoe
And take me home with you
Tell me what to do
and take me home!

She called in on a medium to talk to Uncle Sam
They all held hands and giggled and a voice said, "here I am!"

She said, "Please help me understand these feelings that I get"
"Well, Matron, ma'am," said Uncle Sam
"You ain't felt nothin' yet."

Put me in your shoe
And take me home with you
Tell me what to do
and take me home!

In Gertrude's Garden Hospital
The Matron gave a sob
"Who is there here to help me now?"
They shouted, "SHUT YER GOB!"

Lyrics Submitted by Richard Gagnon

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>