

Birthday Song

Katie Kuffel

You may not know which way
The world swings, but just look down
At those feet of yours
They'll propel you forth
From the grounded life you'll
One day leave behind to the new one
That you define to be
That you decide to lead

And there'll be days when your mouth
Feels so dry from shouting words
A cry of spite to those that
Say you can't
But rest assured those hours
Lose their length when set aside
To make for days you'll hold your
Head up straight
(Ooo, oh)

And don't be afraid
To feel between these allotted lines
'Cause I know always
That you'll get back to what you knew
Where solid ground would stay under you
And grow and learn and thrive each day
For the breaths you speak
And the words you say
Are simply the steps that you'll take
Along the way
(Yay, hey)

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>